A Memorial to Congress Asking that Montana be Admitted to Statehood Passes the Council.

POLITICAL DISCUSSION.

The Bill Allowing Women to Practice Law in the Montana Courts Adopted by the Upper House-New Bills Introduced.

Yesterday's proceedings were marked by a political discussion in the council over Bickford's memorial to congress praying the senate to pass the omnibus bill which will admit Montana to statehood. The memorial was opposed wholly and solely upon political grounds but passed by Brown, Kennedy and Olds voting with the democrats. Thompson, of Silver Bow, introduced a bill to regulate corporations, which provides that they must not retain over 10 printed. provides that they must not retain over 10 printed. provides that they must not retain over 10 per cent of their capital from the year's profits: provides that the books shall always be open for inspection, and names severe penalties. any of the states of the Union, and our natural advantages, both of climate and location, are now becoming known to all parts of the world. The most pressing want of the present time is admission to the union of states, and we new believe that in view of the population, wealth, climate, progress and expected future progress of the territory, we are entitled to such admission. The reports of the various territorial offices show an envisible financial condition, a progress in the development of industries which, in any part of the world, would be looked upon with price, and the properties which, in any part of the world, would be looked upon with price, and the properties which, in any part of the world, would be looked upon with price, and the properties which, in any part of the world, would be looked upon with price and the properties which, in any part of the world, would be looked upon with price and the properties which, in any part of the world, we can point with a degree of pride and satisfaction to the fact that in all matters where in its beneficence congress has delegated to the people of this territory of which were the instructions of the judiciary committee to countrally all such delegated powers have been so used that at the power has never been in any manner abused, but on the contarys all such delegated powers have been so used that at the power has never been in any manner abused, but on the contarys all such delegated powers have been so used that at the power has never been in any manner abused, but on the contarys all such delegated powers have been so used that at the power has never been in any manner abused, but on the contary all such delegated powers have been so used that at the power has never been in any manner abused, but on the contary all such delegated powers have been so used that at the power has never been in any manner abused, but on the contary all such delegated powers have been so used that at the power has never been in any manner abused, but on the contary all such delega or an the others, but in the matter of public schools, average attendance and advancement in the studies pursued, the territory of Montana can by reference to her school record show a state of affairs that will be a guarantee that the rights conferred by admission will never be abused.

before the senate of the United States known as the omnibus bill, providing for the admission of Montana with other terri-tories. It has been published in full in the territory and read with more than passing interest, and, while it places upon us some restrictions neither called for by the exigencies of the case nor by natural justice, we believe that the provisions of this bill are upon the whole reasonable and that the passing of the bill would bring about the result most decouply borned for by our result. passing of the bill would bring about the result most devoutly hoped for by our people. We therefore most respectfully, earnestly and hopefully ask for the favorable consideration of said bill, or any other bill which will bring about the same result at an early date, in order that we, your fellow citizens, children of the same common ancestors, may be endowed with the rights which you now possess and of which we are deprived." ond times and referred to general orders.

In meetings of stockholders to consider the sale of any property of the company, at least 85 per cent. of the stock must be represented. If the assets of a company are worth less than 15 per cent. of its capital the corporation may be dissolved and a receiver appointed by a court. Any diversion of the funds to other purposes than those specified in the certificate of incorporation, the payment of dividends which impair the capital stock, the keeping of false books, the publication in any way of false reports of the financial condition of the company, the extravagant management of the affairs, or the intentional violation of any of the provisions of the act, are declared frauds and are causes for the dissolving of the cor-

The bill providing for a special levy of a one mill tax for free bridges and the council joint memorial in reference to having the alien land law amended were passed by the council.

In the house Congdon introduced a bill to prevent the killing of buffalo and other large game. Pickman a bill to protect fish in Montana streams. It provides that any one tapping a stream to secure water for a ditch must provide screens at the headgates and affixes a penalty for the failure to do so. Roberts' bill, in relation to the dower rights of insane women, was ordered printed, as was his bill providing for an inspector of mines. Swiggett's military bill which if enacted will essentially strengthen the Montana Guard, was introduced, as was Blakeley's bill providing for the appointment of probate clerks.

In the afternoon Thompson, of Deer Lodge, from the engrossing committee, redorted council bill No. 7, providing for free bridges, council bill No. 8, the bounty law, was started on first reading, but was found not to be very carefully engrossed and on motion the bill was returned to the house for tablishment of certain boundary lines be-tween the counties of Silver Bow, Deer Lodge, Beaverhead and Missoula, with recommendation that the bill pass. Congdon gave notice of a bill to prevent the killing of buffalo and other large game. Pickman introduced house bill No. 18, a bill for the protection of fish in the streams and water courses of Montana.

The bill requires that any company or individual who owns a ditch tapping any stream shall be required to place in the head of the ditch a substantial screen, that head of the ditch a substantial screen, that will prevent the fish from passing into the ditch; that the screens shall be kept in good repair from May 1 to Nov. 15. Every offense is punishable by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $50. And each day on which the screen is not in good repair shall constitute a separate offense. It is made the duty of sheriffs and other peace officers on learning of the violation of the law to make complaints.

shall constitute a separate offense. It is made the duty of sheriffs and other peace officers on learning of the violation of the law to make complaints.

The bill was read and ordered printed. A bill was introduced by Roberts regarding the conveyance of dower rights of insane women. The bill provides that when any married woman adjudged insane is seized of any property in which by law she has a dower right, the dower interest may be conveyed under the direction of the district court. The husband is required to file with the clerk of the district court a statement as to what the property is, the price asked, etc. The judge upon receiving satisfactory proof of the insanity of the party, and that the sale is to be made in good faith, may make an order relinquishing the dower right. If the woman have a guardian, the order shall direct the guardian to execute the conveyance on her part and if she have no guardian the order may be addressed to some other suitable person. The money received from the dower right shall either be paid to the guardian, if the woman have one, or if not, to the district court until a guardian is appointed. The court may also order and direct the exchange of lands, seitlements, etc.

The bill was ordered printed.

The bounty law was r ad a third time, and no objection being made Rea was permitted to offer an amendment relating to the form of the certificate to be used by the probate judge as provided by the bill. The amendment was adopted, the bill read third time and passed unanimously. The house resolved itself into committee of the whole, and after considering council bill No. 6 recommended its passage.

The house took a recess until 2 p. m.

On reconvening Jones gave notice of a bill requiring railroad companies to fence railroad tracks in Montana and keep the same in good repair.

Swiggett introduced house bill No. 15, an act providing for the organization, regulation and discipline of the national guard of Montana.

The memorial was read the first and second times and referred to general orders.

Collins, from the printing committee, reported council bill No. 15, providing for justices of the peace acting as city magistrates under certain circumstances, and council bill No. 16, concerning attachment, was adopted, the bill read third time and passed unanimously. The double of the justices of the peace acting as city magistrates under certain circumstances, and council bill No. 16, concerning attachments, as correctly printed, and both were referred to the judiciary committee.

Thompson, of Deer Lodge, gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill defining the eastern boundary of Deer Lodge county.

Brown introduced council bill No. 22, for the protection of cemeteries and the bodies of dead persons. The bill makes it a misdemeanor to deface, destroy, mutilate, etc.

Thompson, of Silver Bow, introduced to make the bodies of the dead. The bill was read first and second times and ordered printed.

The bill requires that the militia of the bodies of the dead. The bill was read first and second times and ordered printed.

The bill requires that the militia of the territory shall be styled the National Guard of Montana, and in time of peace council bill No. 23, to regulate corporations. ### A VICIOUS ASSAULT.

R. Lockey Sues Walter Matheson and Others, Claiming that He was Defrauded by Them of a Large Amount.

A few minutes after 8 o'clock last evening a stabbing affray occurred in Crahan's gambling house on Main street, in which J. F. Crowley cut Richard Bullard in the left ear and face, within half an inch of the jugular vein. The two men were fight ing, but when the cut was made they were quickly separated by bystanders. After the affray Crowley fled but was soon arrested, and Bullard was conveyed to Dr. Pickman's, where his wounds were dressed, and he was subsequently removed to the Sister's hospital. The affair grew out of a debt of $2, which Crowley claimed Bullard was owing him. Crowley is the keeper of a lodging house

Crowley was making preparations to leave town. When he was taken to the city jail he had $395 in his pockets. He would say nothing regarding the trouble. He is now in the county jail.

Five witnesses to the affair, C. J. Sorenson, George Broxton, F. P. Koenig, Harry King and W. H. Bonnar, were taken into custody and held in the city jail to appear to-day at the preliminary hearing. Four of them voluntarily proclaimed themselves witnesses to the scene, but felt like kicking themselves when told they would have to go to jail.

WANT A SETTLEMENT.

Lockey & Douglas Bring Suit Against Walt

Matheson, J. R. Steel, Wm. Miller, John Travis and B. Lee is the title of a complaint filed in the district court yesterday. The complaint alleges that April 2, 1887 R. Lockey, S. R. Douglas and Walter Matheson formed a co-partnership for the purpose of carrying on a real estate business. An agreement was entered into that the profits of the business and the expenses should be divided equally. In the event of Matheson or Douglas retiring, or either, the property of or belonging to the firm, including the list of property for sale, should be the property of the remaining member of the firm, and also the office furniture. Mr. Lockey alleges that when he went into the firm he had a large amount of property, his own and others, to sell. His health was bad and wanting to leave the city he put the business in the hands of his partners. Believing it to be safe he went to Hot Springs, Ark.. in June, 1887, and returned in April, 1888, Matheson and Douglas carrying on the business while he was absent. Shortly after the plaintiff left Helena, he alleges, Matheson conspired with Steell, Miller, (who has no existence in fact) Travis Lee and others, and unlawfully commenced a system of of business transactions whereby they bought property belonging to the firm in the names of other persons and sold the the same to bona fide purchasers, the profits arising from which Matheson either kept himself or divided with Steell.

Some of the property thus bought and disposed of is mentioned. A piece of land was bought from one Keefe tor $3,500, sold for $4,000 and $3,752 was accounted for. Another piece of property was purchased from R. S. Cameron for $1,200 and a portion of it sold for $1,400 to Miller, leaving two lots unaccounted for.

Mr. Lockey also claims that Walter Matheson made fraudulent entries in the books, one of which entries was the payment of $151 50 to J. R. Steell as one-half payment to a man named Crayon, which was never made. The partnership exising among Lockey, Matheson & Douglas was dissolved by mutual consent Jan. 1, 1888, Matheson retiring. When dissolved Lockey claims he had received $427 94, Douglas $1,632 92 and Matheson $1,529.02. Since that time Lockey says he has endeavored to get Matheson to give an itemized account of the business transactions and pay over profits and assets now due and unpaid from Matheson and his co conspirators, but has failed in the attempt. A number of interrogatories are also filed, to Matheson or Douglas retiring, or either, the roperty of or belonging to the firm, includ-
